“ Dear Uncle Tony,

Thank you for allowing me to visit your bakery while my oldest and dearest friend Julie was working there, back in high school. If you could have seen the juke box dancing that went on when the place was empty! I remember worrying about how to work the bread slicer for customers and you said “don't worry about it, tell them it's broken“. I was always allowed a free doughnut. Best half moons ever. May you rest peacefully.

“ I am grateful for all of the fond memories that I have of you, Uncle Tony. Thank you for welcoming me into your family when I was just a little girl. I remember spending day after day with you and Auntie Red. Some of the most fun days I had as a child were spent at your house, eating cheese and salami and bread! I will never forget how good you made me feel when I made you taste one of my new recipes and you gave it a thumbs up, all while you probably were thinking, "What the heck is this stuff??" They say that people you love never go away. They walk beside you, each and every day. I find comfort when I think about you resting, away from any pain and sorrow. We love you, Uncle Tony .. until we meet again .. xo
