“ Micheal Douglas and I shared precious moments. Micheal and I had a beautiful son Darius who he also called his jewel. Micheal loved all his children. He was very charismatic with a charming personality. Let us not leave out how handsome he was, our son looks just like him. When I first met him he was working as a Foreman of Carpentry, building skyscrapers, Hotels, and many other buildings in the Newport downtown Jersey City area. My memories of Micheal Douglas would 4 ever be in my “ Michael the eldest of seven sons of Ernest Guerra: Alfredo, Patrick Fitzgerald, David, Leroy and Jemile. Michael was loved by all, however, was unable to frequently see him as he migrated from Trinidad and Tobago. May God grant his children, grand children and the mother's of his children plenty strength. Great thanks to Winkie and others for their total unselfish support and love. May he rest in peace, Love you Michael.

“ I remember the first time coming to the house NJ and looking around your room and I found a photo album, I have never see baby pictures of myself in such detail along with our brothers I was maybe 2-3yrs old, I never knew it existed, I couldn't figure out why you got so pissed that I found it but now I know it meant a lot to have those memories and you didn't want it taken away. I love you bro and I wish I tried harder to make the trip to find you.

Rest Easy,
Jemile

“ Hello Michael, I am saddened by the news of your passing. I am sorry I did not get to spend time or even speak to you over the years. It was only a few weeks since I shared a photo of you with our cousin Lystra and my sisters, we were hoping you were alright.

Even if you were just a year young than I, you taught me to pitch marbles and played cowboy and Indian. Your female cousins made you play red light and London bridge. You were very easy to get along with. We used to call you "Mama Bread" but do not know who give you that nick name.

The last time I saw you were at my father's 75th birthday in DC, our family had a great time.

Michael, I prayed for the protection of your soul, just to let you know I prayed for forgiveness for all you need to forgive and for all who need to forgive you.

Your soul is safe and ready to join your family members.

Michael, you will always be in my heart as a great and favorite cousin.

Rest in Peace Michael
Love You,
Pamela Hall
